Unanswered Questions: The Peter Bonsby Case (I like this one the most, I think)

Knife in the Heart: A Sister's Search for Justice

Through the Sister's Eyes: The Bonsby Case

A logo (a quick sketch is fine)

A draft of writing for your home page introduction, which might possibly recycle some writing from your original Proposal

- March 19th was a Wednesday and the day my brother Peter was found dead in his apartment. He was found with three stab wounds in his chest and a kitchen knife making a fourth into his heart. His girlfriend Mary claims to have been in the other room when it happened. She was the one to report it to the police. The cops ruled it as a suicide as soon as they found out he was on a new anti-depressant, disregarding all of the obvious tells of foul play.
- Here are some things to know:

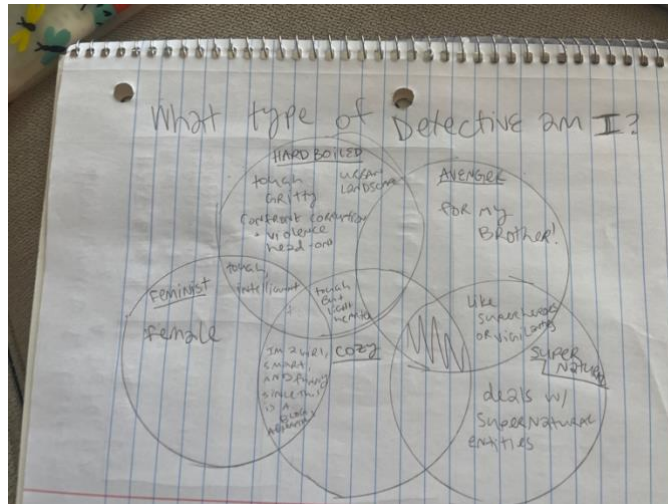

- Peter is a musician. He just signed a $150,000 contract with a management company and label, was getting the money on March 17th, and was leaving for his first national tour on April 2nd.
- Peter was planning on breaking up with Mary, their relationship was turning sour. He was very adamant that he would be doing it that week; their 1 year anniversary was at the end of the month and he thought it would hurt her less to get it over with before then. I thought it was some stupid logic, but hey, sometimes you just need a deadline.
- Mary is a trained paramedic, she has been actively working as one for six years. She's always been interested in money. I know when she heard about his contract, she was pushing to get married, she wanted a cut of that, a big cut.
 - Her "alibi" story: she claims to have been in the shower when she heard Peter scream and then ran out to see him with a knife sticking out of his chest, blood everywhere. She was "so shocked that all her training flew out the window" and she "couldn't think of what to do" so she pulled the knife out of his chest.
- You can read about and see all the evidence I've already gathered that proves she murdered him on the page about her [link to page].
- My brother did not stab himself in the heart four times. He could ever do such a thing. Mary killed Peter. He deserves justice.

A draft of writing for the "about" section, which details the fictitious organization/entity that is creating the website

- My name is Anna Bonsby. Welcome to my blog/evidence hub. I needed to collect all my thoughts and get the message out there, so I created this website. Please share with friends and everyone!
- A little about me

I was a journalist for the Chicago Pulse until a few weeks ago, I got laid off after my brother died because I was "too distraught" or at least that's what they're blaming it on. I don't think any of them ever actually liked me and were jumping at the chance to fire me. But it was really a blessing because now I can focus all my time investigating the murder of my brother.

- [[I'm also going to put a part on this page talking about how she gets inspired in her own detective "career" (for lack of a better word). To meet some criteria for my other project, I'm going to categorize her as the type of detective she is through a Venn diagram of her and other detectives that she wants to compare herself to.]] I made this quick sketch as an example:

A description of something to satisfy the "memorial" requirement

- A page dedicated to Peter Bonsby; I might have AI generate images of these fictitious siblings to add to it all. This page, I think, is going to be all like "I miss you!!" and decorated with pictures of him and things he liked, etc.

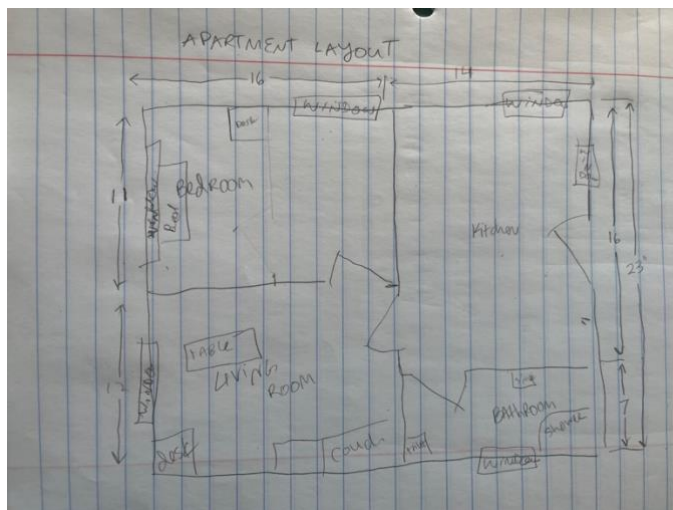

3 pieces of "research" to support the premise of your Final Project. These should be drafts writings and should include quotations/links to any other resources (if possible) that support your research.

- I'm going to create a police report, with all the facts of the case
- I'll also create a layout of the room he was found in.
- I'll also add all of my own evidence against Mary which is:
 - #1!! She should have known to never have pulled a knife out of a stab wound before you know how to treat it
 - Her fingerprints were all over that knife.
 - Peter's knife rack in the kitchen was completely full, so it wasn't his own kitchen knife. Someone had to have brought it themselves.

- She had a contusion on her arm, the type that you would get from someone defending themselves from you.
- She was a gold digger, has a history of it with her exes.
- Main thing----- who could stab themselves in the heart FOUR TIMES?
Quite unlikely

Any images that will be included in your "research". If the images were found online, then name the source and provide the URL. If original photos, then credit yourself as the photographer. If images are going to be your own artworks that need sufficient time, then it's ok to create a sketch for the time being.

- I'm going to create a layout of the apartment as it was the day of the murder.
- I also have an idea to fake some surveillance images of Mary and Peter, or Mary and Peter's manager, etc. I don't know yet if I want them to be AI or if I'll stage them myself with my friends.
- I do have one question about the images though, If I use AI-generated images that are supposed to be the people themselves, could I put captions as "my own personal archive" because of the whole story that this is his sister creating the website? I could have a part in the footer saying that the images are actually AI too because I don't want to really do false-credit if that's what it would be!

Any videos or audio that will support your research. Provide sources for found materials. If you are planning to create your own video or audio — and you need more time to get these elements together — then describe what you intend to record the best you can.

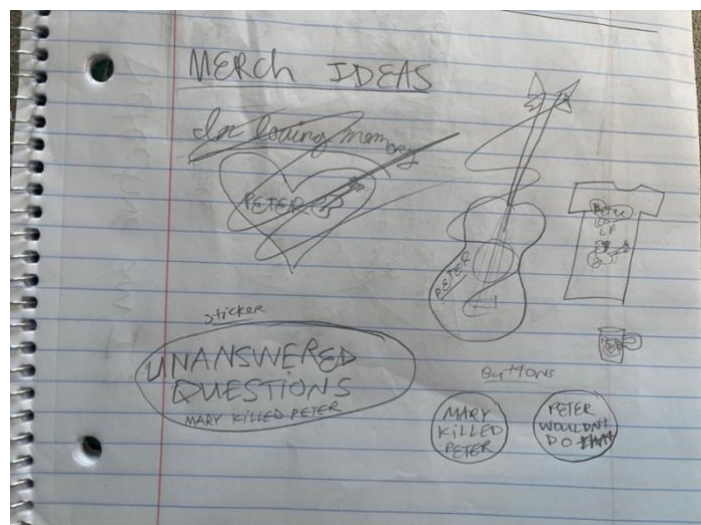

- I'm going to create an audio clip of people's testimonies and have my friends voice act as Mary, the police, and anyone else who comes up. I think an especially interesting one would be Mary's story of what happened that day.

A draft of writing regarding the recruitment/membership process

- Listen up everyone:
The police won't open the case until I've got a substantial body of evidence (which I obviously do) and enough people to back me up in requesting an opened case file! Please please please help me by signing this petition! You can also subscribe to my newsletter to get all the latest, juicy details of the case!!
- Please help me bring justice for my brother and keep this dangerous woman off the street, who knows who could be next!!

A product offered by this website, which could be merchandise, a service, or perhaps a paid membership. If this is an object that someone could buy (such as apparel or a gadget), then a quick sketch of the item is fine.

- I need help funding my investigation. You can buy stickers, shirts, mugs, or just send a few dollars my way please!

A draft writing of the conclusion, which might be a sort of call-to-action for the audience.

- What happened that day was a tragedy. I know Mary is guilty. She must pay for what she's done. With your help, we can bring this case to a close! Justice will prevail. Please help with any information or ideas you may have regarding the case.
